Towson University Symphonic Band and Chorale to perform in The 52nd MENC Eastern Division Biennial In-Service Conference

Towson, MD – On Thursday, March 31, the Towson University Symphonic Band and Chorale perform at 7 pm in the 52nd MENC Eastern Division Biennial In-Service Conference. Accompanying the Symphonic Band is guest virtuoso Euphonium soloist.

Dana J. Rothlisberger is the Director of Bands and Professor of Music at Towson University. He conducts the Symphonic Band and oversees all aspects of the band program. Bands under his direction have received high acclaim and superior ratings in numerous festivals and have performed at state and divisional conventions. Band members include future doctors, lawyers, computer programmers, and business people, as well as music majors and minors. Leaders in every field have cited their college band experiences as outstanding forces in their own personal development and success.

MENC, among the world's largest arts education organizations, marked its centennial in 2007 as the only association that addresses all aspects of music education. Through membership of more than 75,000 active, retired, and pre-service music teachers, and with 60,000 honor students and supporters, MENC serves millions of students nationwide through activities at all teaching levels, from preschool to graduate school.
