

Thanks a Million My Praxis I Teacher

The MWP has offered Praxis I Preparation for conditional teachers and pre-education majors since 2000. It's always gratifying to hear from our students who have benefited from these classes. We thank Linda Miller, T-C '93, for sending this poem of thanks from one teacher thrilled with his accomplishment in Praxis I.

Linda Miller

Dear Mrs. Miller,

This moment,
the sweet moment,
where everything
melts into
pure joy and happiness;
while the Spring flowers,
and the flowers dance;
when my heart throbs,
and my soul sings
of this unique success,
I remember you,
and request you
to accept my thanks
for all helps rendered
to make possible
for me to fly on Victory's vigorous wings.

Your classes last March were very useful, and I want to thank you by dedicating this poem to you. I beg you to accept it.

Yours truly,
Abraham

National Writing Project Conference in Maryland

Four of our MWP T-Cs were chosen to work as scribes at the National Writing Project conference on technology and writing held in Mt. Washington in June. T-Cs from NWP sites across the country attended this meeting, which addressed the following questions: How can we strengthen our technology work? What can we do to overcome teacher fear of technology? How can we keep up with the pace of technology? MWP T-Cs Joe Bellino and Ailish Zompa shared their presentation on English Language Learners and Technology at the conference.

DaMaris Hill

Nadine Feiler

Joan Stukes-Maurice

Erika Watkins