

IN MEMORIAM

DENNIS HINKLE
1942 – 2003
Dean of the
College of Education
Towson University

Dennis Hinkle passed away on Feb. 26, 2003. He suffered an aortic aneurysm on Christmas Day and then struggled valiantly for two months in critical care until his heart finally gave out. During the time that Linda and I worked with him, though, his heart never gave out for the Maryland Writing Project. He understood the importance of the MWP in the lives of both teachers and students, and he supported us in our every endeavor. One of his legacies at Towson University is a strong, self-sufficient Maryland Writing Project. He was a friend, a teacher, and a mentor.

Goodbye, Dennis. You will be sorely missed.
